Download and install any Visual C++ redistributable runtime library package that is easy. Its like downloading the setup from below given the direct download links and then running the installer. Every installation step is self-explanatory. You can have multiple redistributable runtime packages installed on your computer. Select your architecture and download the Microsoft Visual C++ Redistributable from the links below. Then open its Installer. The window will open and ask you to accept the terms and then click on the Install button. It will take 4-5 seconds to install into your System. After installation completes, a window will appear that tells you that you have successfully installed the Microsoft Visual C++ Redistributable on your System. Silent Installation You can also install Visual C++ redistributable in silent mode. The installer comes with a /q switch that can be used to run the VC++ installer in silent mode. There are two ways to run the installer with /q switch. One is to create a shortcut of the downloaded setup file and append /q /norestart at the end of the target field in shortcut properties. VC Redistributable silent install shortcut The second way is to run the installer from the command-line. Here is an example of how I ran the installer in quiet mode: Download and install any Visual C++ redistributable runtime library package that is easy.
